San Francisco reports by the Wilmington give the market as sluggish, with but little change to note in our staple products. The two sugar refinerles are running at only about one-half their capacity, showing apparently that the market is well supplied, if not overstocked; or and successful effort to obtain the Treaty of Reci- which the Berlin Congress allows her to retain. that the heavy operators, in combination with the refineries, are taking measures to reduce stocks, with a view to enhancement of prices.

The West India Sugar Crop now coming in is said to be very large on all the Islands except Cuba, and of excellent quality. Cubs formerly exported an immenamount annually, and the recent pacification of the Is-(and will, in a very few years, undoubtedly restore her exporting capacity, with a marked effect upon eastern markets, which will of course react upon us to some Rice. - The San Francisco market is badly demoralized and the arrival of the Peking from Hongkong, with over 25,000 mats did not mend matters. Hawaiian table is quoted at 65,66%c .- a heavy decline from June price-It is probable that this decline will only be temporary At suction, a small lot of Hawaiian brought 7c.

SATURDAY, JULY 27. Minister of Foreign Relations, and formerly A steam coaster built in San Francisco for Mr F S Fratt, United States Minister Resident at Honolulu, lows: England assumes the protectorate of friendly or indifferent to the project; unquestionshly the opposition with which we had to contend in Congress would have been greatly strengthened and our chances of final success in obtaining the coveted boon materially lessened. But Mr. Peirce, as we all know, worked earnestly and effectively to assist our Envoys at Washington, having obtained leave of absence from his post in order to go there personally on this business, and indeed laid himself open to the imputation, by enemies of the measure, of looking more carefully after the interests of Hawaii than those of his own country-but none perceived more clearly than did Mr. Peirce that the Treaty would operate for the benefit of American commerce as well as of Hawaiian agriculture. And when the Treaty was finally secured, none more heartily

> The saying is proverbial, that Republics are ungrateful; and sometimes this is also true of Monarchies. In March last, Mr. Peirce was appointed to the position of Minister of Foreign Relations, which had been vacant since June of the previous year, and it was very generally regarded as a satisfactory appointment. But four months had clapsed after his taking office, having completed, at some cost, his arrangements for spending the remainder of his days in the land of his adoption and amidst the prosperity which he had assisted to create, when, in consequence of Cabinet complications in which he had no part or lot, he was called upon to resign. And when it was known that this gentleman, having, under the pressure of circumstances, in his advanced years been thus thrown upon the world again, as it were, we had hoped that a sense of gratitude would have prompted the thoughtful ones among those who are now enjoying the fruits of the reciprocity for which Mr. Peirce with others so heartily labored, to have suggested a testimonial to be presented to him on his departure from the thing, too, of more utility than a tea-service. But " He that doth public good for multitudes,

Finds few are truly grateful.

Yesterday, in the Assembly, a report was received and ordered to be printed from the Special Committee (Hon. W. M. Gibson, chairman.) to whom was referred a majority and minority report of the Committee on Foreign Relations, a report from the Hon. H. A. P. Carter, and two resolutions of the Hon. Messrs. Rhodes and Gibson. The report, being somewhat lengthy, was received too late for insertion in to-day's paper, but we give tioner, of this city. The estimate is as nearly correct as a brief synopsis. The matter at issue between this Government and that of Great Britain is stated to be the interpretation of the 4th Article of the Treaty of 1851, out of which has arisen a question of claims against this Government. The committee find that there is apparent conflict between the 3d and 4th Articles of the Treaty, the one conditional and the other unconditional. Our treaty relations with foreign Governments from the first are passed in review; a handsome compliment paid to Mr. Wyllie and the early friends of this Government while it was in a state of pupilage-" men who labored patiently under various difficulties to secure for Hawaii the untrammelled condition of a fully recognized State." The committee, after discussing the points of disagreement, say that they "Must recognize that the negotiation of the American Reciprocity Treaty by our Government afforded some grounds for exceptions to be taken by treaty powers claiming the most favored nation privileges." But this treaty is not a ground of objections by the British Government. We have the assurance from the British Secretary, Lord Derby, in his instructions to the British Commissioner in Hawaii, that the British Government accepted fully the explanations of our Envoy, Mr. Carter, in respect to the Reciprocity Treaty,"

The committee say that the claims of importers of British merchandise who paid, as is alleged, an excess of duty during the operation of the unconditional 4th Article, now withdrawn, is a case for the consideration of our courts of law, and for which the constitution of this Government provides. The amount of these claims is so smallonly $1,177.14-that the committee consider it evident the whole question is one of principle. The conclusion is reached, after a review of the whole matter, that there is no question at issue in respect to treaty relations with Great Britain which cannot be adjudicated by our Courts.

Our readers are aware that a telegraph line was established a few months ago on Maui, extending from Haiku to Wailuku, a distance of some ten miles. A continuation has recently been added, which reaches to Lahaina, a distance DUNCAN. of thirty miles more, making a continuous wire of forty miles, and with this addition the line works better than before. Mr. A. W. Carter FROM GUANO ISLANDS-Per Joseph Wooley, July 18-7 has charge of the Lahaina end of the line, and Dr. Enders at Wailuku. It is quite superfluous o speak of the advantages of rapid communication between the Islands and the Capital. A moment's thought will bring them to the mind; but there is one point which we desire to mention : An accident to one of the mills near Haiku or in Makawao might happen in the midst of the grinding season, of which any long delay in making repairs would involve the loss of thousands of dollars. A message to Lahaina might be in time for the Nettie Merrill or some other vessel, and thus an order would reach Honolulu some days sooner than by any other means, and the needed piece of machinery, or the necessary help forwarded without vexatious delay, thus, perhaps, avoiding great loss. To extend the idea a little further: The same reasons hold good for a cable R Rishop, Mrs W Hapai, Miss S Hapai, Gov S Kipi, M Kipi, Mrs W L Rose and 5 children, Hon H Kuihelani, S Savidge, S Stains, Mrs J Ladd and Daughter, Mrs A Haalelea, Miss H Morse, Mrs S Obed, H Cornwell, J Bryant, H Bryant, G ection of all the Islands with Honolulu, and

THE ANGLO-TURKISH TREATY.

Among all the surprises which have accompanied the Russo-Turkish war and the complicated questions which were connected with it, not the least is the Anglo-Turkish Treaty, the THE HON. HENRY A. PERCE, late Hawaiian terms of which have but just come to light. Briefly stated, they may be summed up as foltakes his departure from the Islands in the out- Asiatic Turkey, which she agrees to defend from going steamer to-day. Mr. Peirce has been a future Russian aggression, and to enable her to lifelong friend to Hawaii, and the sincerity of his | do this effectually she takes possession of the friendship has been proved in numerous in- Island of Cyprus, with the provision that the stances-in none more so than in the assistance | Convention shall terminate when Russia gives which he rendered the Government in our last | up that part of her conquests in Asia Minor procity with the United States. In order the One of the stipulations which England makes is, better to understand what we owe to this gentle- that she shall be allowed to make such reforms man, let us suppose for a moment that during as she may think necessary in the administration the negotiations for the Treaty he had been un- of the country she undertakes to protect. England is to pay Turkey $650,000 yearly, in compensation for the revenue derived from Cyprus. As the island is ferrile, and possessed of abundant resources, it cannot be doubted that it will soon become of great value to Great Britain, commercially, as well as in a military point of view. The island is to be immediately garrisoned by 10,000 Indian troops and several battalions of British troops. The strong force to be stationed there shows the importance which the British lies within one day's steaming from the entrance to the Suez Canal, and much nearer to the coast of Asiatic Turkey. England will, undoubtedly, erect fortifications at the more prominent and salient points, and thus establish a military center from which she can without delay dispatch rejoiced at our success than Mr. Peirce, for he expeditions in either direction. As she consolijustly regarded it as the assurance of Hawaii's dates her power on the main land, the expediency of a railroad from a convenient point opposite | Swiss Lloyd Marine Insurance Co. of Winterthur, the head of the Persian Gulf, will early engage her attention as a means of keeping open a more convenient and rapid communication with her Eastern Empire. The possibility of such a road being built is by no means remote, and when it is accomplished, Russia is completely checked, in this direction, from approaching Central Asia or India. Thus it would appear that the Sultan's Asiatic dominions are safe from invasion from the north while this protectorate lasts, and the Czar may possibly prefer to give up Kars, Ardahan and Batoum, rather than thus confront an obstacle which will grow greater every day it lasts.

The world has hitherto been given to deriding the statesmanship and diplomatic ability o Disraeli, and some have even gone so far as to nickname him the "Juggler of Europe;" but this specimen of his diplomacy takes the world by surprise. His policy has heretofore been noted more for its firmness than its brilliancy; perhaps we should have said obstinacy, for did he not country-probably for the last time-and some- tell Bismarck the other day that he did not go to Berlin to yield to demands-in other words, to make them. Whatever objections may be raised by the protesting Powers, he has declared that England will submit the Treaty to no one's judgment but her own. What further proof do we need of his firmness-or obstinacy? Of the possible alternative, he could not be ignorant.

> NEW STEAM YACHT .- The steam yacht Waimanalo, built for the Island trade, was launched in San Francisco on the 12th inst. She belongs to Mr. F. S. Pratt, of this city, and will be employed in the transportation of supplies and produce to and from the plantation recently commenced at Waimanalo. She has a carrying capacity of fifty tons, and will steam ten knots easily. Her arrival may be looked for daily. It is a matter of regret that our business men are obliged to order such work from abroad; but the fact is that there is not a sufficient force of ship-carpenters here to do the work as soon as required. In the palmy days of the whaling trade, when from two to four or five hundred ships a year called at the Islands, there was always a great deal of ship-carpenter work to be done, and a large force of experienced workmen could at all times be found. Were such the case now, vessels of the class spoken of could be built here within a reasonable time, and the Honolulu Iron Works, with its present facilities, could readily supply the machinery. Yet, even with our limited means, the Kilauea-hou is proof that good work can be done by our Honolulu ship-builders.

- We learn that another steam schoonerrigged vessel would leave San Francisco from the 7th to the 11th of next month for this port, to the order of Wilder & Co. She is of about one hundred tons burden, will draw seven feet loaded, and is intended for the circuit trade of Oahu. She will prove of immense benefit to the people on the windward side of this island by affording them a ready and easy transportation of their produce to market. Success to all enterprises that shall afford the producer and consumer more rapid communication than our hitherto slow and tedious land and sail transit. Captain Reynolds, late master of the old Kilanea, sails to-day for San Francisco, to navigate the new steamer to Honolulu. Her name has not yet been announced.

WATER PIPE, WATER PIPE, WATER PIPE!

CELEBRATED WYCKOFF WOOD PIPE

Are now prepared to furnish Planters and others with this article in sizes ranging from 1) inches to 8 inches, and of a strength to resist any pressure that Iron Pipe Will stand. In offering this Pipe for sale the following advantages are claimed for it over any Pipe in the world First-It is the Cheapest Good Pipe.

Second-It is the most durable of all Pipes-practically imperishable. Third-It neither expands nor contracts and corrosion is impossible. Fourth-It is more easily laid-can be tapped with an ordinary auger Fifth-It is more easily handled-lighter in weight and perfectly tight. Sixth-It is not liable to get out of order.

Seventh-When used for water it neither tastes of or can be affected by chemical ingredients. Thousands of Miles of this Pipe have been laid down in the Eastern States and on the Pacific Coast, and in every instance it has given entire satisfaction, and flattering testimonials to its merits have been given to the company by parties who have used it.
